Work Philosophy

"To me, design is not a mere aesthetics; it is how we tell stories. I believe research data provides a solid foundation, but a touch of honest narrative is what allows a work to truly resonate with people. Even when specific subjects are new to me, I am confident that I am an avid learner who will always be ready to adapt and prioritize quality in efficiency."

Archetype and Brand

As someone who has always strived to present their best self and adapt effortlessly to any room, I've realized that brands are more than just a way to polish our outer appearance. They are a mirror.

What we choose to show the world is deeply rooted in the character we wish to reveal, the story of who we truly are. Just like us, every brand carries a core personality that sets it apart: its brand archetype. When we connect with a brand, it isn't accidental. We feel a quiet, magnetic pull, an undeniable sense of attachment, simply because we resonate on the very same frequency.

We are all woven from tiny fragments of ourselves

Spinning, pulling toward each other

compressed in the quiet darkness

till we glow, and finally ignite.

*“As keepers of this space, power remains in our hands,
we set the intensity of the light,
And choosing exactly who we welcome inside to wander in and discover every corner of our inner world. ”*

Epilogue of Self

We are living patterns born from colliding particles. Some lock together through shared frequencies, while others clash and are hurled into the distance, unable to find harmony.

Those who align emit a rich spectrum of color, radiating outward as the persona.

Those who clash are thrown into opposing orbits, remaining dimmed and lightless like the shadow.

But when a full spectrum of colors binds as one, glowing with vibrant energy, it reveals the pure manifestation of the self.

Adalah bagian kecil dari Ourchetype, semesta diri yang mengajak kita menelusuri sisi dalam diri. Bernal dari penggabungan kata wander yang memiliki arti berkelana, dan plant yang mewakili dunia tumbuhan.

The Wander Plant menjadi sebuah kisah tentang perjalanan tumbuhan yang hidup merambat tanpa ragu ke beberapa sisi hutan, berkelana mencari makna tumbuh dan berkembang, juga menemukan pola-pola yang ada dalam diri, Wander Plant. Itulah kita, tumbuhan sang pengelana.

Is a small part of The Ourchetype, self-universe that invites us to explore the inner facets of ourselves. It is the combination of the word meaning to roam, and "plant" the world of vegetation.

The Wander Plant becomes a journey of plants that thrive, unwavering in various corners of the earth, wandering in search of growth and development, as well as discovering patterns that exist within itself, The Wander Plant. Representing us, the wanderer.

INTRO: The Wander Plant

The Wander Plant speaks of a quiet journey, a climbing vine moving boldly toward every side of the woods. It travels not just to move, but to understand what it means to bloom, to adapt, and to recognize the recurring patterns within itself.

That is our story, too. We are the wandering plants of this world. Navigating our own wilderness to find where we belong.

Narrative Journey

27 Maret - 27 April

Finding the Self, Becoming True Self.

Embedded in the rhythm of our daily routines, TiJe is far more than a path from one destination to the next. It is an emblem of connection itself. It weaves us into the lives of strangers, intersecting our journeys with distant places and unwritten stories. In those shared spaces, it subtly brings us face to face with the layers within ourselves: our need for comfort, the thin line where peace meets disruption, and the fleeting moments that stay with us forever.

Station of Encounter

Life in the city is a collection of endless narratives. We chase comfort, yet we live hurried among the crowds, pursuing beauty in passing shadows, wishing to remain whole and in total control. Yet who is the one standing still within us, filled with quiet longing?

At this transit point, you will cross paths with different layers of yourself. As you connect with new places, individuals, and shared experiences, you will discover your missing pieces: your public face, your quiet shadow, and the realization of your whole self.

Ourchetype: Through the Nostalgic Lens

“More than a lively strip in the city, Braga is where our stories meet, born from the floral breeze that drifts across Bandung Raya.”

Ourchetype becomes a quiet messenger, guiding us to understand the hidden corners of our own hearts. Offering a gentle mirror for human connection and empathy.

Pasar Seni 2025

Grounded in the mechanics of a seesaw, Ungkap Ungkit explores the constant tension between two opposing ends. 'Ungkap' stands for the unearthing as in persona: the archive, the outer impression, everything brought to light. 'Ungkit' is unveiling, belongs to the shadow: the obscured layers that linger beneath, waiting to be pulled forward.

Within the space of Setakat Lekat, this interplay reflects the core of how we live today, navigating the space between physical reality and digital presence, the remembered and the forgotten. Visitors do not merely observe; they actively experience the process: unveiling the self, unearthing hidden layers, and discovering how these two forces remain intertwined in our collective journey. Ungkap Ungkit acts as a living bridge, continuously balancing where we have been with where we are going.

JOURNEY

Exterior Journey: Introduction

If you could be a part of a sustainable ecosystem, who would you be?

Nature, much like humanity, moves in endless loops: growing, decomposing, and restoring itself back to health. True sustainability is never just a lofty phrase; it is forged through the quiet, conscious choices we make each day. It begins when we welcome nature back into our daily lives, from the tactile surfaces of the furniture we touch to the smallest details that so often go unnoticed.

This space was created to bring you closer to materials and products born from organic waste. Through a brief journey on your phone, you are invited to immerse yourself in this living ecosystem. Discover the unique qualities of materials grown from mycelium, shaped by ocean residue, or harvested from agricultural waste, and see where your own nature resonates within the cycle.

Our

Welcome to Jakarta: a city caught in a noisy paradox of crowded streets and an obsession with land that consumes our days on endless asphalt. Here, home is no longer just shelter. It has transformed into a sanctuary of survival, built against unpredictable laws and unwelcoming public realms. Bound by horizontal limits, the city reaches a tipping point.

This exhibition deconstructs the future of living in Jakarta through both space and human experience. Blending Jungian archetypes with modern urban design, it moves past surface-level architecture to explore the collective psyche of the city. Together, we dissect the shift from treating a house as investment, reclaiming it to house as home.

Through participatory interactions in a vertical landscape, we are invited to reshape the relationship between privacy, security, and life itself within the dynamic heartbeat of the megacity.

THE TRADITIONALIST

You see housing as a social anchor and collective action. Mutual cooperation, neighborhood memory, and housing justice are your core values.

THE ESTABLISHED

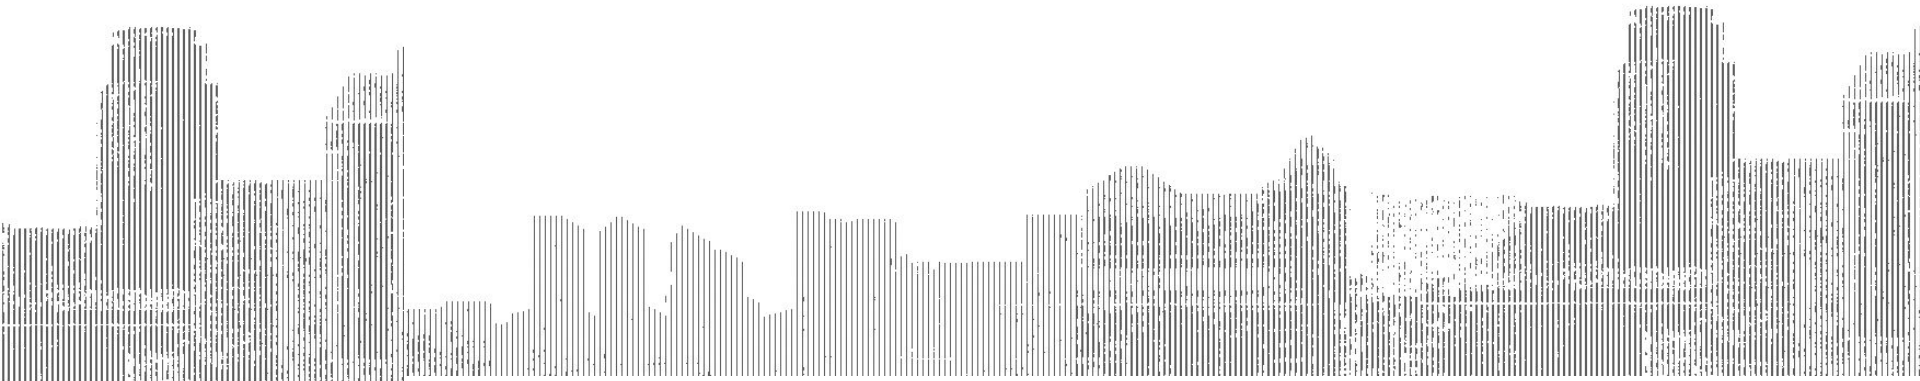

You are realistic about housing. Your priorities lie in economic stability, basic physical feasibility, and balanced access.

THE URBANIST

Mobility, high efficiency, and connectivity mean everything to you. You prioritize boundless connectivity through public facilities.

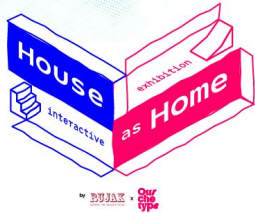

THE IDEALIST

You long for an energy-independent housing that serves as ecological infrastructure; protecting yourself while also restoring the environment.
